By John Charnock

Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from An History of Marine Architecture, Including an Enlarged and Progressive View of the Nautical Regulations and Naval History, Both Civil and Military, of All Nations, Especially of Great Britain, Vol. 1 of 3: Derived Chiefly From Original Manuscripts, as Well in Private Collections as in the Great Public Repositories; And Deduced From the Earliest Period to the Present Time In respect to that doubt and obscurity which has so long, and so hap pily divided the minds of commentators and critics, with regard to the form of particularly celebrated ships, there need not be adduced a stronger proof of the Very uncertain grounds, on which enquiry is to be pursued, than the laboured disquisitions which have taken place, without in any degree ascertaining the point, as to the formation of ships, at a period no farther distant than that of King Henry the Eighth. Description and profound representation appear, in almost numberless instances, at variance with each other. The Harry Grace a Dieu, is of very different force in the oficial account given of her equipment, from that which the drawing...
